

STATISTICS AND DATA TABLES

Portsmouth (NH) Police Department Law Enforcement Accreditation

Overview

The following information reflects empirical data submitted by the candidate agency specifically related to CALEA Standards. Although the data does not confirm compliance with the respective standards, they are indicators of the impact of the agency’s use of standards to address the standards' intent

Black Non-Hispanic Female	7	4	11
Hispanic Latino Any Race Female	7	1	8
Other Female	9	5	14
TOTAL	1298	424	1722

Reaccreditation Year 1 Notes:

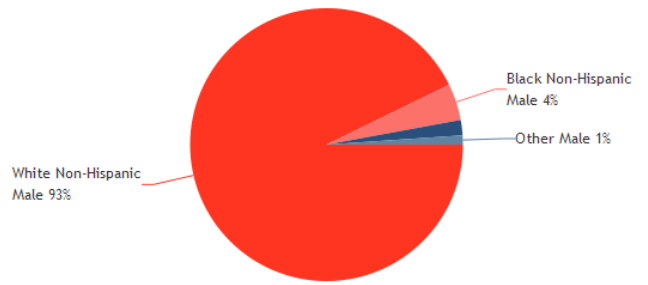

These statistics do not capture motor vehicle stops where a verbal warning was issued. In that aspect, Portsmouth NH Police stopped 7,513 motor vehicles in addition to these statistics where a verbal warning was issued. Our agency captures demographic information voluntarily and without statutory mandate for the purposes of gathering traffic stop data. When comparing written warnings with citations issued in the context of community demographic make-up, the data suggests a correlation with the community composition for enforcement. The data also suggests that warnings are being issued approximately three to four times more often than citations being issued.

One of the most heard and consistent complaints from residents in the City is that of traffic and speeding vehicles along with other traffic violations. Within the last two years, operating a motor vehicle while using a handheld electronic device also became a violation. The police department has responded by increasing patrols and summonses addressing distracted driving. The department also participates in New Hampshire Highway Safety grant funded programs where traffic enforcement targeting specific violations is the goal. Also included in this are patrols to target DWI and drug impaired drivers.

Reaccreditation Year 1 Notes:

In June of 2019, Portsmouth Police Department implemented a means of collecting and tracking use of force data by race, sex and ethnicity. These categories were added to the agency's Response to Resistance form that is completed following any use of force by an officer. The data above reflects roughly 6 months of data broken down by demographics. The first full year of use of force demographic data shall be reported for the calendar year 2020.

By definition, the Portsmouth Police Department considers "Weaponless" as "Hands on Techniques". By policy, the Portsmouth Police Department also considers the pointing of a firearms at a person to be a use of force or 'response to resistance'. Same goes for displaying a taser at a person. These instances have been determined to be instances where the department feels that the officers action are meant to compel a person to comply and therefore should be tracked.

As seen above, the largest number of instances where force is used is hands on techniques. This is defined as any hands on action an officer would take when encountering even the slightest resistance to being arrested or detained. For example, a suspect slightly resists handcuffing and an officer needs to use force to place their arms behind their back. There were no occurrences of deadly force used in 2019 or even a firearm being discharged.

Portsmouth Police Department utilizes a review committee for each use of force event to evaluate the circumstances, use of force technique, outcome and determination. This committee allows for timely review and necessary referral for remedial training, internal investigation if necessary, and policy review.

There was one complaint out of 539 custodial arrests. The complaint involved two officers and was investigated through the Internal Affairs function. Even though it involved two officers, it was kept as one formal investigation because the allegations were from one incident/one complainant. The disposition of the investigation for both officers was 'not sustained'.

Grievances	Year 1
Number	2

Reaccreditation Year 1 Notes:

Two formal grievances were filed in 2019. 	Year 1

Termination	0
Other	2
Total	4
Commendations	4

Reaccreditation Year 1 Notes:

The data documented under "other" represents written reprimands, which by policy are deemed to be punitive discipline.

The suspension was a result of an internal personnel matter that was not investigated by the formal internal affairs function.

Commendations are defined as instances that fall under our Department Recognition policy. These instances do not include informal recognition by a supervisor that don't rise to the level of a formal complaint. These instances are documented and tracked regardless. The four commendations breakdown to one Life Saving Award and three Chief's Achievement Awards for the efforts of both sworn and civilian employees of the department. Other such commendations include, "Chief's Letter of Appreciation", "Chief's Letter of Commendation", "Medal of Valor Award", "Meritorious Service Award", and "Chief's Letter of Recognition".

The Chief of Police has sole disciplinary authority and has made it a priority in his administration to address sustained misfeasance and nonfeasance related to behavior in a fair, consistent but firm manner to promote professional and ethical conduct in the agency.

Reaccreditation Year 1 Notes:

External/Citizen Complaint is defined as a complaint against the agency or an employee that did not result in a formal Internal Affairs investigation. Internal/Directed complaint is defined as a complaint against the agency or an employee that did result in a formal Internal affairs Investigation.

In 2019, there were two suspensions as a result of internal personnel matters that rose to the level of internal affairs investigations.

Portsmouth Police Department has a dedicated internal affairs function that directly reports to the Chief of Police. The internal affairs investigation is limited to fact-finding and final determination for discipline rests with the Chief of Police. Complaints can be made directly to the standing police Commission that oversees the police department. All personnel matters are discussed as part of the Police Commission's role with the Chief of Police.

Reaccreditation Year 1

The agency has a restrictive pursuit policy that involves evaluating and mitigating risks for instances that allow for initiating and allowing for a police pursuit. A pursuit committee is utilized by the agency to review and ensure all policy pursuits comply with agency policy. Recommendations on training and policy revisions are also a part of the committee's responsibility when reviewing prior pursuits.

Three of the four pursuits in 2019 were for traffic-related offenses. One pursuit was initiated by New Hampshire State Police which came through Portsmouth. Our officer was called off by his supervisor once additional State Troopers became involved and the pursuit left our jurisdiction.

When a pursuit occurs, the Pursuit Review Committee reviews all aspects of the pursuit to ensure that policy along with State Laws were followed. The Committee will then, if necessary, make recommendations regarding the pursuit where appropriate. This can include policy revision, remedial training or any other recommendations.

In 2019, the Pursuit Review Committee determined that in each instance policy and procedure were followed. However, in three instances, it was determined follow up with the involved officers or supervisors was warranted in an effort to address needed improvements with radio communication.

Portsmouth Police Department was near full compliment for full-time sworn personnel in 2019. The current positions the department continued looking to fill were full time and part time sworn positions as well as Dispatcher positions.

Source of Service Population Data: US Census 2018 ACS 5-Year Survey. The available workforce represents the relevant labor market in Rockingham County and was compiled via various open source documents and data.

Since 2018/2019, three sworn officers have retired and two have transferred to other agencies. One sworn officer that retired took the non-sworn position of part-time Evidence Technician at our department. With these reductions in staff, the department has been working diligently to hire qualified individuals, with a focus on females/minorities.

Reaccreditation Year 1 Notes:

The department has gone to great lengths the last several years to increase recruiting by advertising nationwide. We also actively try to recruit sworn officers and allow for lateral hiring. This significantly cuts down the amount of time needed to get an officer online and working in a solo capacity. We also work with the NAACP in recruiting efforts. The Strategic Services Division also advertises specifically on websites that target minorities. Our hiring efforts include attending job fairs and incentives for current employees who recruit candidates that do get selected for hire.

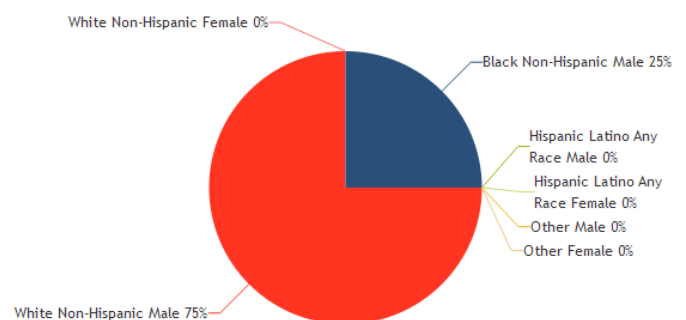

The goal of our hiring practice is to always hire a diverse workforce. With the current challenges of hiring and retaining applicants in law enforcement, this becomes even more difficult as the overall applicant pool has drastically decreased.

The agency competes with the metropolitan Boston area as well as all other New Hampshire law enforcement agencies with a very limited listing of candidates - many don't show for the physical agility examination. The area where most of candidates fail out of the process is at the background/polygraph phase.

On top of holding Sergeant promotions, we also held a promotion process for both Lieutenants and Captains positions. Lieutenants and Captains involve the completion of an assessment center.

Promotion to Lieutenant: 8 Sergeants participated in the assessment center. 2 participants were promoted - percent promoted: 25 % (All participants were White Non-Hispanic Males)

Promotion to Captain: 4 Lieutenants participated in the assessment center. 2 participants were promoted - percent promoted: 50% (All participants were White Non-Hispanic Males)
